Resources, Rights, and Options for Individuals Accused of Non-Sex-Related Discrimination, Harassment, or Retaliation Based on a Protected Class

Respondent – An individual alleged of subjecting another to discrimination, harassment, or retaliation based on a protected class (“Prohibited Conduct”), whether it occurred on or off-campus. A Respondent has certain resources, rights, and options available. For questions and additional information, please contact the Department of Civil Rights and Equity Investigations at 979-458-8407 or email civilrights@tamu.edu.

RIGHTS OF A RESPONDENT

A Respondent has the following rights:

1. You have the right to a presumption of not-responsible for alleged Prohibited Conduct until the Designated Administrator (the individual who will decide whether or not Prohibited Conduct occurred and will assign appropriate sanctions) determines that it is more likely than not that you are responsible.

2. You have the right to choose an advisor to be present with you at any point during the investigation and resolution process, including your interview with the Investigator. Your advisor may be any person selected by you, including legal counsel. The advisor’s participation will be limited to the role of an observer, although the advisor may request a break at any point to give advice.

3. You have the right to be assigned a Case Manager that is different than the Case Manager assigned to the Complainant (the individual allegedly subjected to Prohibited Conduct). The Case Manager is a staff member assigned to each party to help explain the rights, resources, and options that are available to them, answer any questions each party might have, and assist with providing supportive measures.

4. You have the right to have an impartial Investigator(s) and Designated Administrator in your case. Your case will be decided by a person who did not participate in the investigation of the allegations.

5. You have the right to be notified of (1) receipt of the complaint stating the allegation of Prohibited Conduct; (2) the appointed Investigator(s); (3) the appointed Designated Administrator; (4) interim supportive measures, if any; and, (5) any informal resolution process that may be available. If you are a Texas A&M University employee, you have a right to an unredacted version of the complaint for you and your advisor, if applicable. You have the right for the investigation of the complaint to occur within a reasonable time frame from your receipt of these notifications.

6. During the investigation, both you and the Complainant have the right to receive equitable treatment in all facets of the complaint investigation and resolution process including, but not limited to, the right to present evidence and witnesses and the right to be informed of the outcome of the investigation.

7. You have the right to review the draft investigation report and submit a response and/or written, relevant questions you want asked of the any other party or witnesses before the report is submitted to the Designated Administrator.

8. You have the right to appeal the sanction of the Designated Administrator in accordance with member rules.

9. If you believe that the other party has subjected you to Prohibited Conduct, you have the right to file a university complaint against the other party. You also have the right to report the conduct to the appropriate law enforcement agency, if appropriate.

More information about these rights can be found on the Department of Civil Rights and Equity Investigations website at titleix.tamu.edu. If you have questions, please contact your Case Manager or the Department of Civil Rights and Equity Investigations at 979-458-8407.
PRIVACY OF INFORMATION

Most university employees are mandatory reporters, which means that if an employee experiences, observes, or becomes aware of an alleged or suspected incident of discrimination or harassment in the course and scope of their employment, the employee must report all known information to the University. Counselors and Medical providers report de-identified statistics only. See Texas A&M University 08.01.01, Section 2.1 for more information about mandatory reporting.

The University is committed to protecting the privacy of reporting parties, complainants, and respondents to the extend allowable under law. Given the sensitive nature of reports, information will be maintained in a secure manner and will only be disclosed to school officials who are responsible for handling the university’s response and/or have a legitimate educational interest. All students’ educational records are protected under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). For more information about FERPA, go to registrar.tamu.edu.

SUPPORTIVE MEASURES

Accused individuals have an equitable right to request assistance with changes to academic, living, transportation, and work situations. Contact your Case Manager to request these changes. Supportive measures will be provided free of charge and may not unreasonably burden either party.

Counseling, health, mental health, advocacy, and other services are available for respondents. In most cases, psychologists/counselors in the Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS, for students, tamug.edu/counsel) or Work/Life Solutions Program (for employees https://www.tamug.edu/hrd/Employees/EAP.html) are not required to, nor may, report an incident that in any way identifies students or employees concerned without their consent. However, if an imminent harm situation is present, the counselor must take action to protect whoever is at risk. Below is a brief list of available resources. Confidential resources are italicized; however, in accordance with the Clery Act, confidential resources will report de-identified statistics only.

REPORTING PROHIBITED CONDUCT

Anonymous Reporting
Individuals wishing to submit an anonymous report may use the reporting form found on the Title IX website. The University’s ability to investigate and respond to an anonymous report may be limited.

Reporting to Law Enforcement
Individuals reporting an incident have the option of notifying or not notifying law enforcement authorities, including university and local police. An individual may decline to notify law enforcement. An anonymous “Jane/John Doe” report can be filed with the police by the alleged victim while deciding whether to pursue criminal charges. Law enforcement is able to help individuals understand the process of obtaining orders of protection, restraining orders, or similar lawful orders issued by the courts. Below is a list of local law enforcement agencies. Reports should be filed with the law enforcement agency that is located where the incident occurred.

Importance of Preserving Physical Evidence
Retain communications and document any contact with the involved individual(s). If possible, individuals should write down dates, times, locations of contact and preserve any text messages, emails, and/or social media site postings related to the incident.

Reporting to the University
Individuals may make inquiries or file a complaint by contacting the Title IX Officer, Jennifer Smith, at civilrights@tamu.edu or 979 -458-8407. Individuals may also visit the Department for Civil Rights and Equity Investigations in the Medical Sciences Library Suite 007, 202 Olsen Boulevard, College Station, TX, 77843.

Reporting to a Federal Agency
The United States Department of Education’s Office for Civil Rights is a federal agency responsible for enforcing Federal civil rights laws that prohibit discrimination. Information regarding filing a complaint with the Office for Civil Rights can be found at: http://www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocr/docs/howto.html?src=rt.

Resources, Rights, and Options for Individuals Accused of Discrimination, Harassment, or Related Retaliation Based on a Protected Class

(Revised October 13, 2021)
RETALIATION

The university will take reasonable action to protect the complainant, the respondent, and those providing witness statements on behalf of either party or supporting either party from retaliation. Additionally, those individuals are encouraged to report any acts of retaliation from other individuals associated with the incident. This action may come at any time during or following an investigation of a complaint. Individuals are reminded to contact law enforcement immediately if there is a threat to physical health or safety.

SANCTIONING

Individuals seeking information about sanctioning of students should consult the Student Conduct Rules. Information about employee sanctions may be found in University Standard Administrative Procedure 08.01.01.M1.01.
